How did the Fund perform?

During the fiscal year ended September 30, 2024, the TETON Westwood Equity Fund rode a market rally, but underperformed its primary benchmark, the S&P 500 Index. Equity markets in the U.S. posted strong returns, driven mostly by large-cap growth names. The "Magnificent Seven" led the market through June, at which point the markets broadened and small-cap and value stocks gained ground. During the period, three of our top holdings were large banks, and Financials was the best performing sector. Energy stocks had a negative impact on total return, as two large companies declined and the sector as a whole trailed the benchmark.

How has the Fund performed over the past 10 years?

The performance chart reflects a hypothetical $10,000 investment in the class of shares noted (assuming the maximum sales charge) compared to an appropriate broad-based securities market index and more narrowly based indexes that reflect the market sectors in which the Fund invests over a 10-year period. The chart uses total return NAV performance and assumes reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distribution. Fund expenses, including 12b-1 fees, management fees and other expenses were deducted.
